

Program Deadline Nears For Airport Days Event

Local Donors' Names Appear

Deadline for firms and individuals to have their names included in the annual Torrance Airport Days souvenir program is Monday, it was announced by Glenn H. Child, Airport Days committee chairman.

Names of all who provide financial support to the annual celebration will appear in the program that will be distributed to the thousands of persons who will attend the Sept. 29 to 30 event.

"No minimum or maximum contribution has been set — only that individuals should let their business be their guide," Child said.

The program will carry, in addition to the list of supporters, a schedule of events and an airport progress report to the people of the community.

Child urges firms in the Torrance area to take advantage of associating themselves with this progressive airport program by mailing immediately contributions to the Torrance Airport Days Committee, 2204 Torrance Blvd.

"The committee believes that Torrance should be further developed as a center of the aerospace industry. The annual airport celebration is directed to this goal," Child stated.

"The advantages to the community in gaining this type of industry are manifold. Mainly, wages and other monies expended in the community far surpass what can be expected from many other businesses. All types of local business concerns will benefit through this development."

Early contributors to the program, Child said, include the Plush Horse Inn, Sheet-ronics Industries, Inc., Driftwood Motel, Citizens National Bank, Enjay Halfway House, Inc., Paramount Builders Supply Corp., Harlow Associates, Glenn H. Child, Ryan Aeronautical Co., Kidwell Aviation Co., Frank Sciarrotta, Aerial Sign Towing Co., Palos Verdes Aviation, Inc., Southwestern Avionics, Trojan Air Service, Hi-Shear Corp., Marks Aviation, Nagel Aircraft Sales, William H. Tolson and Associates, Walsh Auto Glass, Advanced Electronics, First Western Bank, Southwood Construction Co., Denn Engineers, Jump 'N Jack Restaurant and Cal-Metal Corp.
